

Vote On Mental Health Proposal Gets Board OK

The Lake County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a county-wide referendum that—if passed—would provide care for the county's mentally ill and mentally retarded.

The referendum, which is set for June 11, the same day as the primary election, would set a levy of 7 cents of every $100 of assessed valuation in the county.

The proposal was the product of the Mental Health Society, Inc., and the Society for Retarded Children.

But its approval did not come without a fight, although it passed the board by a unanimous vote. The proposal was presented by retired Circuit Court Judge Milward E. Hulse who pointed out that mental health is a great problem that is not being treated adequately in Lake County.

Hulse said the referendum could ask, under the Community Mental Health Act passed in 1963 by the state legislature, for a 10-cent tax levy.

"But," he added, "we feel that the 7-cent levy will be adequate to meet our needs, both for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded."

Judge Hulse told the board that one out of every 10 persons, at one time or another, needs mental health treatment and the county is just not equipped to provide the service.

"Care is essentially the problem of every community," he said, "and should be included in the total health program."

He said the Mental Health services that should be provided by a community includes counseling services, emergency clinic, intensive treatment beds in general hospitals, day and night hospitals, mental health services to schools, mental health services to courts, mental health services for addicted and community after-care clinics.

"At the present time Lake County does not provide any of these services adequately," he said.

He pointed out that both boards felt the proposal should be presented to the people for their approval or disapproval.

Hulse said that about $500,000 is needed to supply adequate service for mentally ill and about $400,000 for those who are mentally retarded.

He said approval of the referendum would allow a seven-man board to be set up that would pinpoint the needs and formulate a program.

The board members would be appointed by the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

The board would then submit a budget to the Lake County Board of Supervisors, just as any other board does, for approval.

Avon Township Supervisor Norman Geary said he felt that "we are just creating another agency."

"What you ask for is more than twice what the entire health department levy is now."

Deerfield Township Assistant Supervisor Samuel S. Smith pointed out that he was not in favor of separate board—but he would

Junior College Board Has 95 Applications For President

The College of Lake County Board of Directors held their regular board meeting Tuesday.

A screening committee was set up with Herbert L. Wesner as chairman, Oby Cowan and Mrs. Thelma Sandee. The screening committee has already interviewed its first candidate for college president.

Ninety-five applications have already been received from almost every state in the union, including Hawaii. Most of the applicants are top notch administrators on the administrative staffs of universities and colleges and are high caliber people.

The screening committee will interview applicants during the week and on weekends. They will select eight names from the 95 and present them to the board of directors for further interviews. As much as two hours is being allowed for each first interview.

Charles Neal, Oby Cowan and T. E. Paxton are on the committee looking for temporary facilities. If a satisfactory temporary site can be found, the board hopes to open some classes in the fall. They hope to make a definite decision on this within the next month.

The board also discussed site ranking and the criteria necessary for the selection of a permanent site. Geographical and population centers are of prime consideration.

The selection of an architect is also being considered by the

Glen Vynalek Tells About South Vietnam

By Fran Reeder

Glen Vynalek, a former resident of Antioch, now living in Lake Villa, is home on furlough after one year of active duty in South Vietnam. He was stationed 15 miles west of Qui Nhon with an army artillery unit. It took him just 14 hours in flight to get home from South Vietnam.

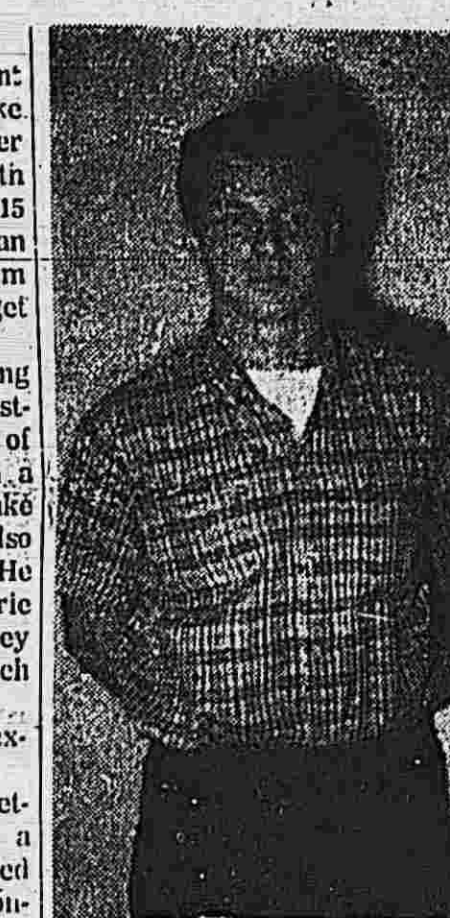

Glen is a good looking young fellow who formerly lived in Westchester and is a graduate of Proviso West. His family had a summer home in Pellet Lake Highlands, so Antioch was also home to Glen and his folks. He met a pretty local girl, Terrie Gallagher, married her and they have been living in the Antioch area ever since.

We asked Glen about his experiences in Vietnam.

"When I first arrived in Vietnam," he said, "I was with a 155 battery, but was transferred to a searchlight battery in conjunction with quad 40. Our job was to help in support of the opening of new landing zones and giving perimeter support. The infra red and visible searchlight focus enabled us to fight at night. The infra red enabled us to detect movement without using visible illumination. All the American fellows I met over there are doing a good job and have a fine attitude."

Vynalek continued: "Vietnam is a country that someday could be made into a beautiful tourist attraction. I traveled through most of South Vietnam. Saigon is the only modern city."

"Bicycles and motor scooters are the main mode of transportation. The majority of the people are very religious and there are many Buddhists. I attended several Buddhist classes with our Chaplain. These visits were to give us a better insight into the people of South Vietnam and their beliefs. The eight points of Buddhism are very similar to our Ten Commandments. In some religious sects, boys up to 5 years old do not wear any lower clothing. This is to show the Gods that they are male and so that the Gods won't hurt them. Man is the definite head of the household and is more respected than the women, many of whom work as laborers and do menial jobs. High respect is shown to the aged," Glen continued.

"Furniture in a typical South Vietnam home would consist of a bench, low table and a floor bed of bamboo. Candles and oil lamps are used for light, and the only heat is from the charcoal pot cook stove. These cookstoves helped with drying out clothes but gave the 'clean' clothing a horrible odor, and a smoky look. Most people raised the food they needed in the smaller villages and hamlets, some bought fish from fishermen and meat from neighbors who had cattle. Their diet consisted mainly of

49 Antioch Area Seniors Win State Scholarships

Forty-nine Antioch area seniors have been named winners in the 1968-69 State Scholarship Program.

A grand total of 15,500 students in Illinois have been named winners.

Dr. Lloyd S. Michael, Chairman of the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, announced that 6,894 students have been offered monetary awards totaling $4,342,617 and 7,156 students have been granted honorary awards. The remaining 1,540 students rejected award consideration by choosing out-of-state or unapproved institutions.

Regardless of college choice, each winner will receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition or achievement in the program and potential for higher education, based on high school record and performance on the qualifying examination.

Approximately 35,000 high school students competed for 1968-69 State Scholarships. State scholarships are renewable annually upon application.

Dr. Joseph D. Boyd, Executive Director of the Commission, explained the process by which awards are determined. Students must be United States citizens and Illinois residents of good moral character. After academic qualifications have been met, qualified participants submit their applications for award

Cavanagh Criticizes Highway Funds Cut

Gerald W. Cavanagh, president of the Chicago Motor Club-AAA, criticized the announced cutback in allocation of $600 million in previously authorized federal highway funds, calling the action another serious setback to our national highway plans. He pointed out that important Interstate road projects in Illinois will be postponed because of the cutback.

Cavanagh, a member of the 10-million-member American Automobile Association, cited a resolution passed by more than 1,400 AAA delegates at the motor organization's national meeting last year. The resolution called on Congress to put an end to unilateral action on the part of the executive branch of the federal government in withholding these vitally needed funds from the individual states.

"These periodic cutbacks in the release of previously authorized federal highway funds play havoc with any attempt to develop sound, long-range highway planning in a state," Cavanagh said. "With construction of our 41,000-mile Interstate System already running behind schedule, it does not take too much imagination to see what this further reduction in allocation of federal highway money—which is accumulated through special motorist taxes—will do to our national highway plans."

The Chicago Motor Club president pointed out that the money for the federal-aid highway program comes from the Highway Mortensen has been stationed with the United Nations Joint Security Command in the area of Panmunjom, Korea. He is serving as a radio relay carrier man with the signal unit.

Much was accomplished by the meeting of educators at the recent Articulation Luncheon at Antioch Community High School.

It was agreed by the group to finalize discussion with Boards of Education to declare May 31 as a holiday, thus making a four day Memorial Day weekend.

Jack Adams and Warren Polley presented the final report on cooperative purchasing. The Anti-

Other schools participating are: Emmons Grade School, Grass Lake School and Millburn Grade School. The Lake Villa Elementary System is in a cooperative purchasing arrangement with Grayslake High School. Studies reveal that dollar sav-

EDITORIAL

A Tiger By The Tail

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce has proposed that it and the Village Board members set up a committee to screen solicitors in our community.

We would suggest that to do so would be like having a tiger by its tail.

The Chamber suggests that by this method the committee — whoever may comprise it — would have the power to tell a businessman he was not wanted here.

We don't believe it would work and further we don't believe that it would stand a court test.

Suppose a member of the committee happens to be selling siding as his means of living. And suppose that the solicitor wants to sell siding.

It would seem to us to be a conflict of interest for the committee — with the siding seller voting — to turn down a request for the second merchant to sell siding.

It seems to us that an ordinance that would require solicitors to register with the police department — and pay a fee if that is needed — would be adequate to take care of the situation.

Either that or eliminate all solicitors and eliminate the Chamber's problem.

We recall that the City of Waukegan wanted to get rid of street ice cream vendors one time and so passed an ordinance eliminating them.

The ice cream vendors immediately filed suit and the Lake County Circuit Court ruled that to eliminate just ice cream vendors was unconstitutional.

The Waukegan City Council thereupon immediately passed an ordinance eliminating all door-to-door vendors and that ordinance was upheld because it did not discriminate against any one faction of our society.

Now if the Chamber wants to start a Better Business Bureau Committee — to receive complaints on those solicitors that do not do business aboveboard — we do not have any objection to this and would support it wholeheartedly.

But for businessmen to tell other businessmen to get out of town — we cannot go for that.

$2.6 Million Need

Good educational facilities are vitally needed in today's society.

A youngster that does not have a high school education today is seriously disadvantaged and a potential breadwinner may become a member of the welfare rolls.

That is why we favor the $2.6 million Antioch Community High School bond issue that will be voted on by residents of the district on March 23.

While there are some things proposed in the issue that we do not favor, overall the request of the voting public seems to us to be reasonable.

The need for the expansion is graphically pointed up in the projected enrollment through 1975-76 when an estimated 1,414 students are expected to attend.

We feel that the 18 additional classrooms the board says is needed is not overdoing it. The remodeling of the outmoded 1915; 1927 and 1952 facilities has been long overdue.

The area serviced by the school is also expanding at a rapid pace. The total population served now is 18,050 and by 1975 that figure is expected to soar to a total of 29,470.

At the present time an overlapping schedule has made the Antioch High School day one of the longest in the county, from 7:45 a.m. to 3:40 p.m.

Some of the classes are meeting in the auditorium because of crowded conditions.

The existing facility houses about 1,100 students and the improvement will house an estimated 1,600 students.

Passage of the referendum will allow the new facilities to be ready by the fall of 1969 or spring of 1970.

The issue will call for a $20.25 cent hike in annual taxes on a home with an assessed valuation of $10,000.

We feel that this expenditure would be well worth it for the growth of the area.

We urge your support on March 23.

Your Congressman
Reports....

By Cong. Robert McClary

Two very important principles are set forth in the recent voluminous report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (The Kerner Commission). First, the Commission urges the American people to adopt "new attitudes, new understanding, and above all, new will," to bridge the gulf which separates citizens on the basis of race. Second, the Commission notes that "violence and destruction must be ended," if we are to build a better society. To some extent these admonitions already have been recognized by the Congress and the legislatures of many of the 50 states in new laws aimed at eliminating discrimination in employment, public accommodations, education, housing, etc. Also, at all levels of Government, steps are being taken to reduce lawlessness and to assure order and stability in our cities.

Many of the Commission's recommendations can be implemented without Federal appropriations or large private expenditures. Indeed, changed attitudes on the part of the public (which would not cost a cent) would reap untold economic benefits through the use of talents on the basis of merit and without regard to race or color. Stricter obedience to the law and increased respect for law enforcement officials will follow naturally from improved opportunity in education, housing, and employment.

However, a major part of the Commission's report depends on new and expensive Federal programs reminiscent of many which have failed in the past to improve either race relations or the economic climate of our disadvantaged citizens. The report declares that the major demand is to "tax ourselves to the extent necessary to meet the vital needs of the Nation." Not only does the Commission recommend taking immediate action "to create two million jobs over the next three years, one million in the public sector," but it urges Federal appropriations to make out-right payments to welfare recipients which will guarantee more than $3,000 a year for an urban family of four.

The report goes on to urge additional Federal expenditures for public housing, model cities, rent supplement, urban renewal, and other federal programs of questionable value. Although the report fails to mention these price tags, it is reported to be about $32 billion to be financed with increased Federal taxes or additions to the National Debt.

The emphasis on such Federal undertakings is confusing in view of the Commission's recognition of the deficiencies in the present system of public welfare, job training, and housing. Indeed, the Commission admits quite candidly that "to date Federal programs have been able to do comparatively little to provide housing for the disadvantaged." Accordingly, it is most unfortunate that the commission was unable to recognize the folly of pursuing Government spending policies as a means of solving the great national problems which the Commission encountered.

It should be apparent that only through massive involvement of the private sector can the problems of our cities be met. Greater emphasis on providing incentives to private employers would seem to be preferable to a shaly low promise "to create new jobs." The experience of the New Deal and the Fair Deal established conclusively that Government can do little toward "creating jobs" in the private enterprise system.

In an apparent effort to satisfy those who prefer an attack by the private sector on the conditions of our cities, the report offers alternatives borrowed from Republican proposals. The Commission recommends, for instance, "on the job training" with reimbursements to private employers "by tax credits." This seems to be identical to the Republican sponsored "Human Investment Act." The Commission also recommends "creation of a Home Ownership Supplement Program... to make home ownership possible for low income families." This recommendation is an out-and-out endorsement of "The Home Ownership Foundation Act" sponsored by Senator Percy of Illinois and many other Republicans including this Member of Congress. Indeed, the Commission ap-

Antioch News:

As a Democratic advocate of the open primary, still I could recognize the merit of the "slating" committee, e.g., choosing the best available candidates and avoiding primary wounds that frequently carry over to the fall elections.

However... the recent choices for the Democrat Senatorial and gubernatorial candidacies have left me in a state of confusion. Though the men selected are good men, they lack the strength of two top men who, in my opinion, could be even stronger standard bearers... Adlai Stevenson III, who was left off the ballot completely; and Michael J. Howlett, who was refused any form of political promotion.

Both of these men have proven themselves not only a credit to their party, but also to the State of Illinois. Both have practiced economy in Government to the high point of praise in newspaper ers throughout the State. Both have unblemished records of public service and accomplishment. Both have proven tireless workers for their party and their State.

It has been said that absolute power corrupts absolutely. Is it possible that the leaders of the Democratic party have reached the point where their thinking is that it is more important to satisfy personal commitments and return political favor than to concern themselves with choosing the most logical and potentially victorious slate? Is it possible that Stevenson and Howlett are not in good graces because they choose to preserve their individuality? I wish I knew the answers!

As a Democrat, I will support the slate. Those chosen are good men. But I cannot help but think it could and should have been better. The Democrats of Illinois have been short-changed!

A recurrent theme among some observers of the political scene is that the county board should be reduced in number from its present 37 members to some undetermined, arbitrary figure.

This corner would like to suggest the elimination of the county board entirely with its functions being taken over by the elected officials of the county including only one judge.

Each month before the meeting gets underway the assembled elected county officials would elect a chairman to serve during the meeting and for the ensuing month.

Such a board would eliminate the costly pay structure of the board and would give the elected officials more authority and responsibility.

Most important of all it would eliminate the divided authority which sometimes hampers departmental operations.

Instead of blaming the supervisors for appropriation "shorts," the elected officials could see that each of them got all they needed to carry on their functions.

Since for the foreseeable future at least all the county officials are likely to be Republican (the GOP could take full credit for all the good functions of the government and the Democrats could zero in on the Republicans for any malfunctions).

Elimination of the county board would also remove a divisive factor in the Republican Party in Lake County and strengthen it in this area if nowhere else.

And finally, since the officials are elected from the county-at-large there would be no tiresome arguments about one man, one vote representation.

And we might even get away from the shoreline-out county dispute that flavors most decisions of the county board.

So it's a dream. It makes at least as much sense as imposing another layer of government in the topsy-turvy political structure with which we must contend today.

Fate has a cruel way of tripping up a person now and again as Sheriff Harold Scheskie is discovering after slightly more than a year in office.

Sheriff Scheskie, a veteran of the sheriff's office, for the past several years had been head of the Traffic Department in the office and had built up an enviable reputation in this field.

Because of this background Scheskie naturally stressed this qualification in his campaign for the Sheriff's post and undoubtedly this helped him win the nomination and ultimately the general election.

pears to realize that Government administered programs do not meet the needs of the poor. In this regard, the report shows that Federal housing programs, if continued, will "concentrate the more impoverished and dependent segment of the population into the central-city ghettos where there is already a critical gap between the needs of the population and the public resources to deal with them."

The Commission then concedes quite frankly: "The private sector must be brought into the production and financing of low and moderate rental housing."

Unfortunately, the main emphasis of the Commission's report appears to be to establish more federal agencies and bureaus, appropriate more Federal funds, and drive the National Government deeper into debt. Instead of (Continued on page three) raising our cities from the grave conditions in which they find themselves, adoption of such policies would surely be the quickest way to further aggravate the problems of the Nation.

 Governor Rockefeller's actions in the recent strike of New York City sanitation workers adversely affected his popularity as a candidate for President of the United States. However, his support of a settlement proposed by a handpicked mediation board is perfectly understandable. The Governor supported a settlement estimated to cost $250,000 per year in preference to Mayor Lindsay's demand to "call out the National Guard," an action which the Governor estimated would have cost $16 million and an activity for which the National Guard did not seem to be particularly well suited. What should be emphasized is that the issue involved in the strike has a more far-reaching public significance than the contest between Rockefeller and Lindsay.

Mayor Lindsay's rejection of the mediation board's proposed settlement was based principally on the illegality of the strike. The Mayor was fortified by a court order issued in accordance with a New York statute (the Taylor Act passed in 1967) forbidding strikes by public employees. In fact, when Rockefeller announced his support of the mediation board's settlement, the President of the Sanitation Workers' Union was serving a 15-day jail term for contempt of court in calling the strike. The governor's position, which provides for a pay increase of only about $4 more per month than the maximum set by Lindsay, appeared, nevertheless, to condone the unlawful strike by the sanitation workers.

Few will question that Mayor Lindsay emerged the victor in what developed into a Rockefeller-Lindsay contest. In other words, the American public is substantially "fed up" with strikes by public employees which flout the public interest. Strikes by police and fire personnel, as well as other public service employees, cannot be tolerated. The protection of homes and factories against fire and theft is of paramount importance to our society. Advancement of the individual interests of public employees must be accomplished in a manner which will not interfere with the performance of essential services for the public.

Those who enter public service occupations in transportation and communications, public schools, police and fire departments, hospitals and custodial occupations, should recognize that they have to forego the "right to strike" a right which is the principal bargaining weapon of persons employed in private industry.

However, the interests of public service employees should not be ignored or frustrated. Indeed, State and Federal laws should provide adequate machinery for considering the merits of the demands of public service workers. Some officials of organized labor may be unhappy with the Taylor Act and the broad principle which it embodies. Nevertheless, it is incumbent upon these labor leaders to find ways for advancing the individual interests of public employees, without work stoppages. George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO, has conceded that "perhaps the best answer is some system by which unions could subscribe to a voluntary arbitration" by an impartial party—binding on both sides.

It is more than two years ago that President Johnson promised to recommend a Federal program to the Congress for handling strikes which affect entire industries or which substantially affect the public interest. As yet no concrete recommendations have come to the Congress. Instead, the President has resorted to makeshift devices such as that employed in the railroad workers dispute last year. Meanwhile, strikes and threats of strikes—by railroad and airline employees as well as communication and other workers—have seriously affected the public interest and even jeopardized our national defense.

Former New York State Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, has suggested that the demands of public employees, as well as others whose services are essential to public health, safety, or welfare, might be resolved through the establishment of specialized labor courts. Your Representative and other Members of the U. S. House and Senate have urged early consideration of this or similar construction of legislation. Binding adjudication of public service employee seaweed, rice, snails, bananas, coconuts and guayas.

"I ate quite a bit of Vietnamese food," Glen said, "and most of it was very good. Snails tasted something like oysters. I also ate with the South Korean soldiers who worked with the American troops. These Koreans ate rice, gravy and 'kimchi,' which is a very spicy cabbage concoction. The South Koreans were excellent fighters and were of great help to our forces because of their knowledge of jungle warfare."

"I received many packages from Project Vietnam, and sure appreciated them. Antioch and Lindenhurst were the only two towns in the entire United States that I heard of that were sending packages regularly to their area men in service. The fact that the folks back home were thinking of us, meant a great deal."

"The biggest celebrations in South Vietnam, seemed to be the funerals. They would last from three to four days—there would be music and the people made it a big occasion."

Glen continued, "The American government helps with the establishment of refugee camps for Vietnamese that must be evacuated. Our battery donated $1.00 per month per man to help support a little refugee boy named 'Lam.' That money helped pay for some of his clothing and schooling. Lam is an orphan—his father, mother and the rest of his family were killed in a bombing of a Viet-Cong held village."

"One of the highlights of the year was my rest and relaxation stay in Hawaii last July. My wife managed to meet me there and we had a wonderful week together."

Glen leaves for Ft. Sill, Oklahoma March 20. His wife, Terrie will accompany him, and he expects to be discharged Sept. 12.

Plans for the future? "I worked for a cement contractor in Park Ridge before I went in service," Glen stated, "and I'm hoping to go back to construction work. I also joined the Loyal Order of Moose on my furlough. They are a fine group of people. We plan on returning to the Antioch area after my discharge."

As I finish an interview with these fellows that have been "over there" I experience a feeling of gladness and relief that they made it back o.k. and only hope that the rest of the boys still "over there" will have the same good fortune.

trust fund, which is supported solely by federal funds on highway users. Money in the Highway Trust Fund can be spent only for construction and improvement of federal highways, he said, and the net results of the government's outback is simply to leave the money idle in the Highway Trust Fund.

"The announced outback in allocation of federal highway money will not serve its stated purpose of restraining abnormal inflation," said Cavanagh. "In reality, it will add to the overall cost of the Interstate System, since the normal general rate of price and wage increases will raise construction costs while the money lies idle in the Highway Trust Fund. As a result, the highway user once again will be getting fewer highway improvements for his tax dollar."

Cavanagh said that the disruption of construction planning and programming resulting from this outback will cause all states to further delay completion of their sections of the Interstate Highway System. He added:

"This delay will have a direct effect on our efforts to save lives and increase highway safety and is particularly unfortunate in that it comes at a time when there is a growing national interest in traffic safety."

Cavanagh said that still another danger of this "on-again-off-again support of our national highway program" is that it gives impetus to toll road financing as a means of building critically needed modern highways.

her husband, William Rostron, on November 23, 1963, and a daughter, Marion (Mrs. Andrew Sine) in April 1940.

Funeral services were held at Lady Chapel of Christ Episcopal Church with the Rev. Robert Savage officiating. Interment was in the North Shore Garden of Memories. There is a memorial fund in her name at the Christ Episcopal Church of Waukegan.

Total Snow This Season: 27.9"

Remarks: Seeing that March starts the tornado season you might like to know that Lake County is on the fringe area. Since 1916 we have had six notable touchdowns on 3-28-1920 at Waukegan, 3-14-'57 at Round Lake, 10-8-'58 at Fox Lake, Round Lake and Waukegan, 9-26-'59 at Lake Forest, 4-11-'65 at Zion and Waukegan Airport, 4-21-'67 at Lake Zurich with the one and only death in Lake County. The tornado of 1967 was the third deadliest for the state with 58 deaths, 33 in Cook, 24 in Boone and 1 in Lake Counties. The greatest killer was the "Tri-State" tornado which crossed Missouri, Illinois and Indiana on March 18, 1925. It left 689 persons dead and 1,980 injured, 606 of the deaths were in the southern tip of Illinois. The second worst was in Mattoon and Charleston on May 26, 1917 with 101 deaths.

The mean number of tornadoes in the U.S.A. during a year is over 500, occurring on about 150 days. This is based on observations during the period 1951 to 1960. More than 75% of them come from the southwest and west, although they may come from any direction. These twisters spin with winds estimated at several hundred m.p.h. around a center of low pressure. Their forward movement averages about 40 m.p.h. But sometimes they seem to stand still and there have been those that moved over 70 m.p.h.

J.A. Trade Fair Opens Mar. 22

The Lake County Junior Achievement Trade Fair will take place at Belvidere Mall on March 22, 23 and 24.

"Business and Youth, Partners in Progress" is the Junior Achievement's motto. The Fair will be open on March 22 from 5:00 p.m. to 9 p.m.; on March 23 from 10 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and on March 24 from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Members of the J. A. program for over ten high schools in Lake County will participate in the biggest Trade Fair held in Lake County to date. Over thirty different products will be on display and for sale, all manufactured or assembled by the miniature corporations. Over 300 teenagers between the ages of fifteen and eighteen are members of the Lake County Junior Achievement program, each of them a stockholder in one of the 22 individual companies.

What is Junior Achievement? It is a nation-wide "learn by doing" practical economic education program in which high school students organize and manage their own small-scale businesses under the guidance of adult advisers from business and industry.

In September, young people from 15 to 18 years of age apply for membership in J. A. Groups of from 15 to 20 applicants with business interests are brought together at J.A. Business centers. A team of three adult advisers, provided by a J.A. Counseling firm is assigned to each group, and they organize a miniature corporation. They decide on a product or service, apply to J.A. for a charter, form a Board of Directors and elect officers, and negotiate to lease a room, tools and equipment.

For two hours, one night a week, from October to May, Achievers run their companies and learn what makes business "tick."

Any firms, business or individuals who are interested in sponsoring a company in Junior Achievement, or would like information about the organization, call Joe Miegler, District Manager, Junior Achievement of Lake Co. 662-8854.

Crossing—When boats approach each other obliquely or at right angles, the boat approaching on the right side has the right of way.

Overtaking—One boat may overtake another on either side but must grant right of way to the overtaken boat.

Violations are punished by fines ranging from $10 to $500 and for imprisonment of not more than 90 days, or both, depending on the seriousness of the violation.

Fines and jail terms are also assessed for any person operating a boat during the period he is denied the privilege by a previous conviction.

Supervisors Approve Zone Alterations

The Lake County Board of Supervisors Tuesday adopted seven zoning changes including one that would put a Baxter Laboratories plant in the northern part of the county.

Approval of the Baxter zoning of 87 acres on Wilson Road and Belvidere Street, Grant Township, came on a vote of 24 to 9 after Antioch Township Supervisor Lloyd Murrie, chairman of the Board, signed the recommendation to give the resolution the necessary number of signatures.

Murrie pointed out, when questioned by Avon Township Supervisor Norman C. Geary, who voted against the proposal, that he had signed many reports in the past and was a member of all county board committees.

Baxter intends to construct two special division plants on the site that will employ up to 300 persons upon completion.

In other action the board approved:

Rezone to suburban residential 20 acres on Edie Road south of Grand Avenue, Warren Township, for one-acre residential lots.

Rezone of 1 1/2 acres on both sides of Park Avenue east of Rte. 60, Fremont Township, to allow the American Legion building to be a conforming use.

Rezone four acres on Rte. 22 and Indian Creek Road for a business development in Vernon Township.

Rezone one acre on Rte. 21 and Rte. 45 for development into a market place. This property is in Vernon Township.

Rezone 140 acres in Newport Township at the Milwaukee Road tracks and Russell Road for development of a pharmaceutical plant.

Wife Is Not A Dependent

For income tax purposes, a wife is never a dependent of her husband. The exemption allowed for her is based upon the marital relationship, not on dependency, according to E. C. Coyle, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue Service.

A husband may claim his wife's exemption on his separate return only if she has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer. Husbands and wives may file joint returns even though one of them has no income.

Mr. Coyle said that if the wife had income in any amount, the husband can claim his wife's exemption only by filing a joint return with her. On a joint return, income and deductions of both husband and wife must be included.

When a wife has income of her own, her Social Security number must be entered on the return. Joint returns must also be signed by both husband and wife.

Richard Hogan Receives Discharge

After spending ten years in the U. S. Navy and attaining the rank of "E-5", Richard Hogan was honorably discharged from the Service and settled in Los Angeles, Calif. Last week he brought his wife Sally and daughter Alicia back to Antioch for a most pleasant and welcome five day visit with his parents Earl and Louise Hogan of Lake Catherine.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

Usually our best work is that which we do easily and joyfully.

Symbol of Better Health

There are many theories regarding the origin of the symbol, "Rx". One claims that it is an abbreviation of the Latin word "recipe." Whatever its origin, the "Rx" today symbolizes the prescriptions that help us attain better health, longer life.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Substance" is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Matthew: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

Perhaps we wouldn't appreciate sunshine at all if it weren't for a few mean, rainy days now and then.

Where The Boys Are

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif.

Marine Private John D. Biagini, nephew of Bruno J. Biagini of 1909 N. Arcadia Drive, Lake Villa, Ill., completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at this Marine Corps base.

This individual combat training is given every Marine after his graduation from recruit training. Taught by combat experienced non-commissioned officers of the infantry training regiment here, it prepares the young Leathernecks to become part of the Marine air-ground combat team.

While in the field he was taught how to use hand grenades, a compass and the principles of map reading and land navigation. He learned how to detect and disarm mines and booby traps and, while being exposed to live machine gun fire, he learned to advance safely from one point to another.

From this course, he is scheduled to go on to more advanced training before being assigned to his permanent unit.

Color TV "Leakage" Not Big Problem

Color television sets that leak "excessive" radiation are not the problem indicated in early reports that confused and alarmed the public.

This conclusion is based on a soon-to-be-released study from the U. S. Public Health Service, TV Guide magazine reported recently.

The magazine, in an article by electronics authority David Dachenbruch, said the report based on a study of more than 1000 color sets in viewers' homes in Washington, D.C., is expected to show these points:

1—Only a minor percentage of the tested sets gave off radiation in excess of the accepted standard.

2—Most of those which did exceed the standard were not radiating at an alarmingly high rate.

3—All or nearly all of the excessively radiating sets could be brought down to the required level by a simple voltage adjustment or replacement of a small tube.

The magazine said the PHHS report is expected to stress that it did not represent a scientific sample and that the results can't be projected nationally.

Lachenbruch suggests three simple precautions for color set owners:

1—Keep a standard viewing distance of at least six feet for a big-screen color set.

2—Avoid sitting directly alongside an operating color set for long periods.

3—When a set is serviced, ask the technician to check the picture voltage to be certain it is the amount specified by the manufacturer.

"Because it's a relatively easy matter to hold down X-ray emissions from TV sets, the standard for this product has been set at a very low level (one-half milliroentgen per hour at two inches from the surface of a normally operating set). At this level, the radiation given off by a color TV set is less than that emitted by a luminous wrist watch," the magazine said.

Job-Related Moving Expenses Are Tax Deductible

Persons who moved into the Antioch area during 1967 to gain new employment are reminded by a leading, long distance company that all such non-reimbursed moving expenses are tax deductible.

Mr. Eltheridge, of Aero Mayflower Transit Co., Inc., said the income tax law permits you to deduct your moving expenses of (a) the job change adds at least 20 miles to the distance from home to place of employment had you not moved or (b) your new place of work is at least 20 miles from your former residence, and (c) if you were a full-time employee at the new job for 39 weeks out of the next 12 month period following the move.

If your move meets these conditions, you can deduct not only the total cost of the move but also the cost of meals and lodging for your family in getting to your new residence.

Of course, you may not list your moving expenses as a deduction if you were reimbursed by your employer. Only out-of-pocket moving expenses are deductible, Mr. Eltheridge cautions.

Men's Hair Styling

More and more men's styling salons are opening up in the big cities and there you don't get a haircut. It costs more than a haircut and you get those stray tufts styled!

A $10 bill gets defeated in those places and, when you walk in, you may be shocked to see men with their heads hidden dryers, reading magazines just like the lady folks do at the beauty shop.

Men get their hair colored in these places... and that distinguished iron gray you see on the head of a business man may not even be his! Or, if it is, the natural color may be Michigan Mouse or something not so appealing.

Lots of barbers, excuse me, men's hair styling experts, shun the clippers and just work with shears and a razor. Some will just cut hair with a razor and comb on an angle, so it gets into place easier and stays there.

Well, why shouldn't a man spend some time with his hair, too? We don't like these shaggy collie haircuts; can't get used to thinking of a fella who's just had a hair treatment looking like he needs one.

Bask in the depression most everyone looked that way because a haircut was almost a luxury when you were figuring out how to get the rent paid. But today it's stylish. And one man's hair styling specialist summed it up this way, "If you look like you've just had a haircut, someone's botched the job."

I just can't agree.

It is estimated that 87 per cent of the statues are erected to men who were once called cranks.

Easter Seal Campaign Off To Good Start

More than 80,000 pieces of mail have gone out from the Lake County Easter Seal Therapy Center in Waukegan to launch the 1968 campaign for funds to provide therapy for children and adults. The center is operated by the Lake County Easter Seal Society.

Last year more than 350 children and adults received badly needed therapy to help them achieve a normal life and overcome defects caused at birth or through accidents.

Beset by ever increasing costs and attempting to give treatments to more and more people caused the Society to reorganize and this year starts off on a new and revitalized operation of the center.

Part of the new approach is being conducted by Leo Singer, a member of the Board of Directors and athletic director at Waukegan High School who will enlarge and enhance his program of involving more young people in the work of serving people who need therapy.

Last year's tag day conducted by students from several high schools in Lake County will be expanded to nearly every community in the county.

Under the new set-up, a steering committee composed of Ray McGlashan and C. R. Cunningham of Waukegan handle the executive duties while the new Board of Directors include Douglas Rockenbach of Grayslake, Robert Smart, Michael Celaree, Singer, George Crawford and Dexter Miller, all of Waukegan, Ed Malela of Lake Bluff, Eugene Amann of Round Lake, Richard Shaft, S. L. Carrison, Seymour Cohn, George Archdale, Roger Swarat, Donald J. Voight and James A. Ross, Jr., all of Waukegan.

The sale of Easter seals, started with the big mailing last week, provides nearly 50 per cent of the operating funds of the therapy center.

Doctor Claims Wine Is Great As Medication

When you think of medication, don't forget wine, an experienced surgeon advises medical students, interns, and residents.

The surgeon, Dr. Robert C. Stepto of Chicago, says he published his advice to "help cast light on this singular blackout of information about the world's oldest medicine."

Dr. Stepto points out, "Modern scientific research has confirmed some of the ancient uses of wine and has revealed some new medicinal qualities of wine."

In his own practice, he uses wine to treat the nausea and vomiting which pregnant women and new mothers often experience. The use of wine as a household remedy for premenstrual tension also has modern clinical evidence, he points out.

In an effort to cover the broad uses of wine as a modern medicine, Dr. Stepto offers the young medical readers of the journal a primer and details such uses of wine as:

Anemia: Wine is rich in iron.

Diabetes: Dry wine is a no-sugar energy source requiring no insulin.

Cardiovascular diseases: Wine helps prevent heart-and-artery ills by its tranquilizing effects and by its lowering of blood cholesterol.

Geriatrics: Wine is a blessing to oldsters for many reasons.

Infectious diseases: Wine pigments have proven antibacterial action.

Kidney diseases: Wine is an effective diuretic.

Furthermore, says Dr. Stepto, wine causes neither cirrhosis of the liver nor gout. In fact wine sometimes is given to cirrhotic patients as a treatment; and, gout is an inherited defect in the metabolism of uric acid, and has nothing to do with the drinking of port.

(This article was put out by the Wine Institute of California.)

IN CASE OF FIRE

Are you prepared for a fire emergency in your home?

Now is the time to clean up any misunderstandings about what action to take in case of fire.

Plan two safe ways out of every room. Rehearse routes with your family. Be sure everyone knows the first fire safety rule: Get out fast!

The living room and kitchen are the rooms where three of every five home fires get their start, according to the National Fire Protection Assn. In Spring Clean-Up time pay special attention to eliminating fire hazards in these rooms of your house.

Campfire Girls Active In Lake Villa

The Campfire Girls are celebrating their 58th birthday. There are 10 groups in the Lake Villa area and they are part of the Lake County Council.

Mrs. Elmer Monnier of Lake Villa, has been very active in organizing new groups for the Campfire organization. "Since January, six new groups have been started in Lake County—three in Waukegan and three in Lake Villa.

The Campfire program runs all year long. A day camp is in operation during the summer. Last year it was held in Bowen Park, Waukegan. A Pow-wow is being planned for May 11 at Lake Villa grade school. Handcraft displays, skits and a special program will all be part of the pow-wow.

Bluebirds are for the 7 and 8 year old girls; Campfire girls, 9 through 12; Jr. High, 12-14; and The Horizon Group is for high school girls. There are two Junior High groups in Lindenhurst and one in Waukegan.

The Campfire Girls are busy with a candy sale at present, and Mrs. Monnier is in charge.

Helpers are always welcome, and any one interested in helping or joining should call Mrs. Monnier at 350-7595.

Farmer's Tax Guide Booklet Available

Chicago, Ill.—Farmers can now obtain copies of the 1968 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide," Publication No. 225, according to E. C. Coyle, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern Illinois.

Featured in this year's booklet is an example of a complete farm return, with all required schedules. It also includes a listing of important Federal tax dates to remember.

The booklet, written in non-technical language, contains in chapter four many examples of how farm transactions are treated for Federal income tax purposes.

Although primarily written to help farmers prepare their 1967 tax return, the "Guide" is useful as a reference throughout the year.

The booklet is available free of charge from your county agricultural agent or by writing your nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

The Veterans Administration estimates the use of computer systems in administration of its $7 billion program of benefits for veterans and their dependents saves the Government approximately $17 million annually.

U. S. homeowners lose over $335,000,000 from fire, National Fire Protection Association figures show. The headaches and heartaches of fire destruction in the home are incalculable.

Choral Roundup At W.T.H.S. March 23

Songs, setting and swinging performers will all lend to the western flavor of "Choral Roundup," the annual barbershop harmony show being presented by the Lake County Chapter of Sweet Adelines at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, March 23, in the West Campus auditorium of Waukegan Township High School.

Two quartets from Joliet lead the cast of guest stars: the "Encores," Sweet Adelines' fifth place international medalists; and the "Chowhounds," S.P.E.B.S. Q.S.A., who specialize in blending humor with their harmony. A teenaged quartet from Berwyn known as the "Debutones" will provide an extra facet of harmony enjoyment for the mini-set crowd.

In addition to a number of presentations by the Lake County chorus, under the direction of Mary LaMaster of Northlake, the show line-up includes guitarist Ray Austin of Zion and, as master of ceremonies, Karl Edman, W.K.R.S. personality.

Tickets include both general admission and reserve seats, and are available from: Mrs. Robert Broch, Third Street, Antioch; or any Sweet Adeline of the Lake County chapter.

make an exception in this case.

"This is the only way we can do it," he said. "Until we convince our legislators that we should have a law allowing us to consolidate all of the boards under one roof we are going about this 'half-fast'."

Smith pointed out that the budget of the Mental Health organization isn't a "drop in the bucket" for what is needed.

Hulse said the Mental Health budget for 1967-68 is $102,000 and in 1968-69 it is expected to reach $177,000.

"Although the law says we can ask for a full 10 cents," he said, "we don't feel that we need that much. However, we also don't feel that we should ask for 3 cents and then come back and get 3 cents more and then a penny more."

Geary pointed out that he wasn't against mental health treatment, but he felt that if the referendum asked for what was needed it had a better chance to pass.

"If you only needed half-a-million it is better to ask for that," Geary said. "If the need is less than what you ask, I have always discovered that these bodies find ways of spending up to the amount passed."

It was then Hulse explained that the need for half-a-million dollars was just for the mentally ill and didn't include the mentally retarded.

Hulse said experts recommended at least four community mental health clinics per 200,000 population and in Lake County there is only one.

Most people are happier than the reformers and philosophers who are trying to lead them out of their misery.

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the
ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

NEW MINIMUM EXEMPTION
FROM WAGE GARNISHMENT

A new Illinois law provides that a $50 weekly paycheck is exempt from garnishment, a court order requiring an employer to make deductions from an employee's paycheck for the benefit of his creditors.

And, if the employee is the head of a family who contributes substantially to its support, his paycheck of up to $65 per week is exempt from garnishment deductions, under the law.

According to the Illinois State

Bar Association, the old minimum exemption from a deduction order was $45 and this applied to all persons, without special provision for the head of a family.

The new law retains the old maximum exemption of 85 per cent of the gross wage. Thus, the exempt portion of a wage-earner's paycheck is either $50 or $65, depending upon his family status, or 85 per cent of his gross weekly wages, up to $200, whichever is higher.

The new minimums are now in effect, the ISBA stated. It added that an employer may rely on a written statement by an employee as to his family responsibilities, and incurs no liability if the employee was in fact entitled only to the $50, rather than $65, minimum exemption.

The law provides that the full amount of the non-exempt portion of the paycheck is subject to collection under a deduction order "and no payroll deductions of any kind may be taken from the non-exempt amount."

The exemptions apply to the paychecks of all Illinois workers, including those who reside outside of the state.

If the entire amount of a paycheck comes under the minimum exemption, a creditor must seek other lawful means of collection, according to the ISBA.

POVERTY AND RIOTS
Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out, "there was no such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than just the

how many ribs in a pork loin rib portion?

We think there should be seven.

Not five or six.

With A&P's seven-rib portion, you get more of the select meat.

How can you tell how many ribs you're getting?

It's easy.

With your fingers, you can feel and count the rib bones in the package.

Next time you're buying a Pork Loin Rib Portion, check it.

If you can't count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven ribs, you're missing select meat.

You're not getting the best value for your meat dollar.

Seven-Rib Pork Loin Portions are just one example of the full value A&P meats offer.

We think that caring like this about fair portions has helped make A&P America's largest meat retailer.

When you think about it, shouldn't A&P be your store?
